
The Board of Directors of the Sociedade Brasileira de Química-SBQ (publisher of the Química Nova-QN) decided that QN will adopt the full open access format in which authors are required to cover part of the publication costs for their articles.

Discounts will be offered to corresponding authors that are active members of the SBQ (see below), and this publication fee will be applicable just after manuscript acceptance by Editors. The manuscript evaluation by Peer Review remains unaltered.

Payments will be received only through the PayPal system, which is a safe, flexible and well-established service for on-line payments.

It is important to stress that the SBQ continues responsible for covering a significant part of the publication and Editorial costs for its Journals, in an effort to keep these page fees as low as possible.

We appreciate your understanding and hope to keep counting on your support as an author for the QN.

Editors of the Química Nova.
